Re: Response to General Notice Letter for Chemetco Superfund Site in Hartford, Illinois by Resource Management Companies ("Resource Management")

Dear Ms. Kerr:

Please let this serve as a further response by Resource Management Companies ("Resource Management") to the November 30, 2011 General Notice Letter relating to the above-mentioned site.

INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE OF RESOURCE MANAGEMENT'S RESPONSE TO THE AGENCY'S SECTION 104(e) REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Resource Management incorporates by reference (as is fully set forth herein verbatim) its detailed response ("Response") to the Agency's November 30, 2011 Section 104(e) Request for Information.

Moreover, Resource Management incorporates by reference responses by other "Steel Can" PRPs relating to the lack of liability nexus such parties have to CERCLA remedies being invoked at this site, as well as defenses to assertion/imposition of CERCLA liability.

RESOURCE MANAGEMENT IS NOT LIABLE UNDER CERCLA

As evidenced by Resource Management's corresponding response to the Agency's November 30, 2011 Section 104(e) Request of Information, all information relating to Resource Management and the Chemetco site demonstrate that Resource Management's sole contribution to this site were rinsed post-consumer, baled steel cans, a "Useful Product" by operation by both fact and law which Chemetco purchased from Resource Management for value for beneficial reuse.

Again, and as set forth in exacting detail in Resource Management's corresponding Response to the Agency's Section 104(e) Request for Information, the physical and chemical composition of the "steel can" materials that Resource Management sold to Chemetco is uncontroverted. As set forth in exacting detail in Resource Management's Response to the Agency's Request for Information, the consistency of these steel cans is, for all intents and purposes, uniform in nature, these cans being typically produced from Type L steel. As further set forth in Resource Management's Section 104(e) Response, Type L steel is a form of base metal steel, extremely low in metalloid and residual elements, a steel that is commonly used for improved internal corrosive resistance for certain food product containers. Put a different way, the composition and physical characteristics of consumer steel cans are such that they can be used for storage of food products consumed by the public, which, in and of itself demonstrates in dramatic fashion how devoid of any hazardous substances or other contaminants these cans are.

(See also Resource Management's answer to the Agency's Section 104(e) Request Question 10).

As such, the materials sold by Resource Management to Chemetco are not "solid waste" (as defined by relevant provisions of CERCLA). Moreover, the "Useful Product" recyclable materials which were sold by Resource Management to Chemetco do not contain "hazardous substances" (as defined by operative provisions of CERCLA), or "hazardous waste" (as defined by RCRA). In summary, then, the threshold requirements for imposition of liability under CERCLA cannot be either factually or legally met with respect to Resource Management.

Moreover, as amply indicated by facts, details and circumstances set forth in Resource Management's Response to the Agency's Section 104(e) Request for Information, Resource Management only sold "Useful Product" material for value to Chemetco for beneficial reuse. Again, as such, the threshold requirements for imposition of liability under CERCLA cannot, in any way, be factually or legally met.

In addition to the reasons set forth as to why Resource Management cannot be found liable under CERCLA, Resource Management also qualifies foursquare for the Superfund Recycling Equity Act (SREA) CERCLA Section 127 exemption. Section 127 of CERCLA (42 U.S.C. § 9627) specifically exempts persons who "arrange for recycling of recyclable materials" from liability under Section 107(a)(3) and Section 107(a)(4). The post-consumer cans which Resource Management sold to Chemetco as "Useful Product" meet every SREA requirement. In the first instance, the rinsed and baled post-consumer steel cans which Resource Management sold to Chemetco squarely meet the definition of "recyclable material" under CERCLA Section 127(b). That provision, in pertinent part, provides as follows:

"For purposes of this section, the term 'recyclable material' means scrap paper, scrap plastic, scrap glass, scrap textile, scrap rubber (other than whole tires), scrap metal or spent lead acids, spent nickel cadmium and other spent batteries as well as minor amounts of material incident to or adhering to the scrap metal as a result of its normal and customary use prior to becoming scrap."

(Emphasis added).

As also set forth in detail in its Response to the Agency's Section 104(e) Request, the only "residual material" that would have been included in the post consumer steel cans would be non-hazardous, extremely de minimis amounts of food material or similar household product residue. As specifically noted by the Agency in its August, 2002 SREA Guidance (at Page 5 Footnote 7), any "residual material" that was once an essential part of the scrap during its normal and customary use prior to becoming scrap may be considered "minor amounts" of residual for purposes of meeting the definition of "recyclable materials" under CERCLA Section 127(d).

Moreover, the rinsed, baled post-consumer steel cans which Resource Management sold to Chemetco squarely meet the definition of "scrap metal" under Section 127(d)(3). In that definition, in pertinent part, provides as follows:

"Bits and pieces of metal parts (e.g., bars, turnings, rods, sheet or wire) or metal pieces that may be combined together with bolts or soldering (e.g., radiators, scrap automobiles, railroad box cars, which when warranted superfluous can be recycled, except for scrap metals that the administrator excludes from this definition." (Emphasis added).

Resource Management's material then squarely meets the definition of both "recyclable materials" and "scrap metal". Resource Management would also submit that in all respects, rinsed, baled post-consumer steel cans which, by physical and chemical makeup, contain not less than 98.695% iron are the classic, quintessential example of "recyclable material" to which the SREA exemption is meant to apply.

In addition, it is clear that in all respects and at all times, Resource Management exercised reasonable care. As noted by Resource Management's response to the Agency's Question 11(a),, Question 17 and Question 18, the Steel Recycling Institute confirmed that the Chemetco Hartford Site was a legitimate purchaser of post-consumer steel cans prior to Resource Management selling steel cans to Chemetco. Moreover, on an ongoing basis, many governmental agencies (including Illinois EPA, Illinois Department of Environment and Natural Resources, Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs, Illinois Recycling Association, the Institute of Scrap Recycling Industries and the National Recycling Coalition) specifically promoted the recycling of post-consumer steel cans for beneficial reuse to be sent to facilities such as Chemetco.

Lastly, Resource Management was an active participant in the Illinois Recycling Association during the entire time that Chemetco purchased post-consumer steel cans from Resource Management. Resource Management's Senior Vice President, Greg Maxwell, served on the Board of Directors of the Illinois Recycling Association during the entire time that Chemetco was purchasing post-consumer recyclable steel cans from Resource Management. Notably, also serving on the Illinois Recycling Association Executive Board were representatives from various governmental agencies, including the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, and the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity. In addition, an official from Madison County, Illinois (the county in which the Chemetco Site is located) served on the Association Board. Moreover, Madison County is an IEPA-delegated enforcement authority, and at no time did it raise any concerns about Chemetco.

At no time was any concern raised to Resource Management by any of these entities concerning the sale of beneficially reusable recyclable materials to Chemetco. Furthermore, numerous information brochures and publications were disseminated by governmental agencies such as the Illinois and U.S. Environmental Protection Agencies specifically promoting the recycling of post-consumer recyclable materials, including post-consumer steel cans. Resource Management relied in good faith on all such information, and, as such, qualifies unequivocally for the SREA exemption from liability. USEPA's listing of "Useful Product" processors and vendors such as Resource Management as PRPs significantly frustrates and chills the otherwise commendable policy and worthy goal of maximizing waste diversion and encouragement of resource recovery and recycling activities.

As such, Resource Management is unaware of any basis whatsoever (either factual or legal) for the beneficial reusable post-consumer steel cans that it sold to Chemetco as a "Useful Product" to give rise to liability under CERCLA. In that regard, Resource Management is respectfully requesting that the Agency set forth (with specificity) any factual or legal basis that it believes establishes that Resource Management is potentially liable under CERCLA once the Agency has thoroughly reviewed Resource Management's Section 104(e) Request of Information response and this response.

REQUEST FOR DELISTING RESOURCE MANAGEMENT AS A POTENTIALLY RESPONSIBLE PARTY ("PRP")

As noted above in detail, and as also graphically illustrated in Resource Management's Section 104(e) Response, Resource Management was not the generator of "solid waste" containing any "hazardous substances" or "hazardous waste" as defined by applicable federal law (i.e., the threshold/touchstone for designation of a party as a "person liable" under CERCLA), and, again, no basis in law or fact exists for its continued designation as a PRP by the Agency in this matter. Based upon all the above, Resource Management respectfully requests that USEPA immediately de-list Resource Management Companies as a Potentially Responsible Party ("PRP") in this matter.

DE MINIMIS SETTLEMENTS

Based upon all the above, Resource Management clearly qualifies for a de minimis settlement as set forth in the Agency's November 30, 2011 General Notice Letter. Resource Management respectfully submits that it meets the standards of eligibility for de minimis settlement treatment under CERCLA Section 122(g). In the first instance, Resource Management has no volume of CERCLA waste sent to the site. In the second instance, the materials which Resource Management sent to the site do not materially contain any Constituents of Concern ("COCs") identified at this site. Thirdly, what, (if any) remedy cost drivers appear to be related to heavy metals are not materially related to the chemical and physical makeup of the post-consumer steel cans Resource Management sold to Chemetco. In short, measured by every relevant equitable factor, Resource Management should be liable for no more than an extremely, extremely de minimis settlement amount.

While, again, Resource Management reiterates and reasserts there is absolutely no basis in fact or law to impose liability under CERCLA against the Company and should be completely de-listed as a PRP, again, as a gesture of good faith cooperation, and in an effort to avoid the ongoing time, effort and expense associated with unnecessary continued participation in this process, Resource Management would consider an Agency offer for a special settlement pursuant to Section 122(g) of CERCLA (again, as set forth in greater detail in the Agency's November 30, 2011 General Notice Letter). However, as there are multiple reasons why CERCLA liability cannot be asserted against Resource Management, any de minimis party settlement offer must be minimal in nature.

In closing, again, in the spirit of good faith cooperation, Resource Management sincerely hopes (and trusts) that it can and will resolve its differences in this matter with USEPA. However, please be advised that failing resolution of this matter, Resource Management Companies will avail itself of (and vigorously assert and rely upon) any and all applicable defenses and remedies applicable in this matter.

Should you have any further questions concerning this matter, do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

HINSHAW & CULBERTSON LLP

- 2. Describe and provide any documents related to your company's business activities which resulted in sending material to Chemetco.

Attached are summarized electronic computer records showing a summary of the Bills of Lading, including transaction dates, BOL #'s, Name of Company purchasing the post-consumer recyclable steel cans, destination where the post-consumer recyclable steel cans were delivered, name of transportation carriers (Haulers), Truck #, Material description, Lbs, Tons, Rate/Ton ($/Ton) and Total $ (total price paid by Chemetco) of baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans purchased by Chemetco from Resource Management.

Also attached are electronic computer records of letters from Resource Management to Chemetco confirming Chemetco's site visit to Resource Management's recycling facility in Plainfield, IL on August 9, 1996, invoices to Chemetco for post-consumer recyclable steel cans, and pricing of used steel cans based off the American Metals Market (AMM).

- 3. Describe and provide any documents related to your company's role at the Site, including what duties/involvement your company had at the Site.

Resource Management had no role at the Site.

- 4. If the nature or size of Respondent's activities in relation to Chemetco changed over time, describe those changes and the dates they occurred.

For each trailer load of baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans purchased by Chemetco, Chemetco specified that it would either pickup the load from Resource Management, or direct Resource Management where to deliver the load.

- 5. For each type of waste or material used in Respondent's operations, describe and provide documents relating to Respondent's contracts, agreements, or other arrangements for its disposal, treatment, trading, or recycling with Chemetco, including but not limited to whether Respondent controlled where waste sent to Chemetco warehouses was ultimately processed/recycled.

Resource Management's agreement and arrangements were usual and customary according to recycling industry practice of verbal offers to procure and agreements for outright sale of baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans from material recovery facilities that received, processed and marketed post-consumer recyclable steel cans (primarily food-grade post-consumer steel cans) from source-separated municipal recycling programs, where Chemetco solicited and offered to purchase baled post-consumer steel cans from Resource Management to be entirely used as a useful product. Chemetco controlled where the baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans were sent to and ultimately processed/recycled, and Resource Management played no role whatsoever in those decisions.

6. If not already provided, specify the dates and circumstances when Respondent's waste or material was taken to the Site, and identify the companies or individuals who brought Respondent's waste/material to the Site. Provide any documents which support or memorialize your response.

As noted above, Resource Management sold only post-consumer steel cans to Chemetco for beneficial reuse.

11/11/1996 – 10/29/2001 (see answer to question 2).

Companies who brought baled post consumer recyclable steel cans from Resource Management at the direction of Chemetco to the Chemetco Site were:

Great Lakes Transportation (Chemetco Contracted Hauler)

Resource Management Trucks and Trailers

Resource Management's contracted haulers (JMH Trucking Inc., K.R. Drenth Trucking Inc., and Suzy's Cartage Inc.)

7. Were transactions between your company and Chemetco and specifically the Site: 1) an outright sale; 2) subject to a written or verbal "tolling" agreement between the companies; or 3) reflected the "banking" of the transacted material in a metal account at the request of your company for return or other disposition at a later date?

Baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans were sold to Chemetco as an outright sale of an entirely useful product.

8. Did your company have any influence over waste disposal or recycling activities at the Site? If so, how?

Resource Management had absolutely no influence whatsoever over the recycling activities at the Site relating to useful recyclable product purchased from Resource Management by Chemetco, which consisted only of baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans. Resource Management is unaware of any waste disposal activities that would be related to Resource Management's sale of useful recyclable product to Chemetco, which, again, consisted only of baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans.

9. Was any shipment of material sent to the Site by Respondent ever refused and/or returned? If so, describe this event in detail, including its cause and outcome.

Chemetco never refused and/or returned the baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans delivered to the Site or any Chemetco warehouse.

10. Describe in detail the types of material that you sent for recycling, processing, or disposal at the Site. In your response, please also give the generic name of each type of materials shipped to the Site [e.g., scrap metal (including scrap automobiles), batteries, electronics, scrap paper, scrap plastic or scrap textile, etc.].

(a) Identify whether the materials were delivered directly to the Site or were trans-shipped there from another intermediate delivery point. If applicable, describe each such delivery point.

Attachment A identifies baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans delivered to the Chemetco–Hartford, IL Site by Resource Management trucks.

Attachment B identifies baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans delivered to the Chemetco–Hartford, IL Site by Resource Management contracted freight companies.

Attachment C identifies baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans picked up by Chemetco's hauler and delivered to the Chemetco–Hartford, IL Site.

Attachment D identifies baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans delivered to the Chemetco–Harvey, IL warehouse by Resource Management's contracted freight companies.

Attachment E identifies baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans picked up by Chemetco's hauler and delivered to the Chemetco–Harvey, IL warehouse. Again, and as noted above, Resource Management only sold baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans to Chemetco.

(b) State whether any of the material was ever tested by your company and if so, whether the substances exhibited any of the characteristics of a hazardous waste identified in 35 Illinois Administrative Code 721, Subpart C or 40 C.F.R. § 261, Subpart C.

Resource Management never tested the post-consumer recyclable steel cans it sold to Chemetco. However, and going further, testing was not necessary, as post-consumer steel cans are a specific beneficially reusable commodity with well known and consistent physical and chemical makeup as identified by the Steel Can Recycling Institute (later Steel Recycling Institute), and the American Society of Testing & Materials ASTM Standard A623. Furthermore, pursuant to 40 C.F.R. § 261.4 (a) (13), excluded scrap metal being recycled (which includes processed post-consumer steel cans) is not considered a solid waste under RCRA. In addition, pursuant to § 261.4 (b) (1), household waste, including post-consumer steel cans, is excluded from the definition of hazardous waste under RCRA. In all respects, these post-consumer steel cans were not a waste containing hazardous substances or a pollutant or contaminant as defined by applicable law.

(c) Describe what was done to materials once they were brought to the Site, including any further processing of the materials.

Resource Management understood that Chemetco purchased baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans to be delivered to the Site and used entirely as a useful product. Resource Management had no knowledge of what further processing was used by Chemetco for the baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans brought to the Site.

(d) Provide any additional information and all documents that you believe are related to the type, nature and characteristics of the materials you sent to the Site.

The Steel Can Recycling Institute (later Steel Recycling Institute) publicly and routinely advertised to community groups, municipalities, and material recovery facilities that the type, nature and characteristics of post-consumer steel cans collected from source separated residential recycling programs to be entirely recyclable. Prior to Resource Management's delivery of steel cans to Chemetco, the Steel Can Recycling Institute had indicated that the Chemetco Hartford, Illinois Site was a legitimate purchaser of steel cans. The post-consumer cans sent by Resource Management to Chemetco fall squarely within this category.

Post-consumer steel cans (predominantly food-grade steel cans) are collected for recycling across the entire United States. The attached 2-page circular dated 4/96 published by the Steel Recycling Institute summarizes information regarding the description, collection and recycling of steel cans pertinent to the period when post consumer cans were being delivered to Chemetco.

The manufacture of steel cans is highly consistent, typically produced from Type L steel. Type L steel is base metal steel, low in metalloid and residual elements, commonly used for improved internal corrosion resistance for certain food-product containers. Type L steel is manufactured with limits placed on metalloids and residuals according to the following chemical requirements as specified in TABLE 1 of ASTM Standard A623:

TABLE 1 Chemical Requirements for Tin Mill Products

Element	Cast Composition, max %
Carbon	0.13
Manganese	0.60
Phosphorous	0.015
Sulfur	0.03
Silicon ^{A,B}	0.02
Copper	0.06
Nickel	0.04
Chromium	0.06
Molybdenum	0.05
Aluminum ^C	0.10
Other elements, each	0.02

^A If steel produced by silicon killed method, silicon maximum may be increased to 0.08%.

^B If strand cast steel produced by aluminum killed method, silicon maximum may be increased to 0.03%.

^C Types L and MR steel may supplied “killed” or “non-killed”, which would respectively be produced without and with aluminum additions.

The sum of all elements for Type L steel used for steel cans from TABLE 1 of ASTM Standard A623, is 1.105% (not including Other elements). Type L steel cans are also coated with either a tin coating or chromium wash, consisting of not more than 0.20%. Therefore, the sum total of elements from TABLE 1 plus steel can coating does not exceed 1.305 % (1.105% + 0.20%); with the remaining balance of 98.695% as iron.

The above information, as well as reference to other applicable data and definitions verifies the following:

A steel can is commonly known, ubiquitous and essentially iron.

The manufacture of steel used for steel cans is accomplished according to specific industry standards, with restricted (not to exceed) minor amounts of other elements incidental to the manufacture of steel cans.

The chemistry and relative consistency of the steel can (essentially iron with a de minimis amount of other elements) meets the definition of a recyclable scrap metal under RCRA.

A post consumer steel can primarily consists of iron with a certain not-to-exceed minor amount of other elements, and as such is recyclable and a complete useful product.

(e) List the years in which your company sent materials to Chemetco and/or its broker(s) for recycling, processing, or disposal.

1996 to 2001, only for beneficial use recycling.

Questions and Requests for Documents Related to Scrap Metal

11. For the following questions which relate to transactions involving scrap metals, provide the requested information, and also provide copies of any documents that contain any information that is related to the response:
- (a) Did a market exist for the scrap metal listed in your response to No. 10 above? If so, describe the nature of such a market at the time of the transaction (possible uses, possible consumers, etc.) and the source of the commercial specification grade (e.g., Institute of Scrap Recycling Industries, Inc. (ISRI), Department of Defense, or wherever your company would find the grade published).

Multiple markets existed (and continue to exist) for baled source separated post-consumer recyclable steel cans. Numerous companies solicited (and continue to solicit) Resource Management to procure and purchase baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans. Companies that purchased, or offered to purchase the exact same steel cans from Resource Management for the period 1996 to 2001 included the following:

AMG Resources Corporation
Chemetco
DeKalb Iron & Metal Company
Tube City, Inc.

Resource Management received, separated, baled and sold post-consumer recyclable steel cans based on the general knowledge and understanding of published information provided by governmental agencies and industry organizations to encourage recycling or reuse of post-consumer recyclable materials, where post-consumer steel cans such as those sold by Resource Management to Chemetco were frequently and specifically referred to as being entirely recyclable and usable as a useful product as a feedstock and substitute for virgin materials in the manufacture of useful products. Specific agencies and organizations promoting the recycling of post-consumer steel cans for beneficial reuse as a useful product included the following:

Illinois EPA
Illinois Department of Environment & Natural Resources
Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs
Illinois Recycling Association
Institute of Scrap Recycling Industries
National Recycling Coalition
Steel Can Recycling Institute (later Steel Recycling Institute)
USEPA

- (b) What commercial specification grade did the scrap metal listed in your response to question No. 10 meet? Identify/list the commercial specification grades that each scrap metal identified in No. 9 met.

The post-consumer recyclable steel cans met the Institute of Scrap Recycling Industries ferrous scrap commercial grade specification ISRI Code 213, a code specific to identifying steel can scrap as a specific type and kind of recyclable ferrous scrap as was sold by Resource Management to Chemetco in the manner listed in the response to Question 10. Baled post-consumer steel cans were also (and continue to be) identified as a specific recyclable commodity, being classified as Used Steel Cans in the American Metal Market (AMM) publication listed under Recyclable Material Prices of Ferrous Metal, from which pricing structures were arrived at by and between Chemetco and Resource Management. Resource Management's post-consumer recyclable steel cans further met the specific and distinct description of post-consumer steel cans promoted by the Steel Recycling Institute as a useful product for recycling, and commercially accepted by numerous post-consumer steel can recycling markets.

- (c) At the time of the transaction(s) what was the intended disposition of the scrap metal listed in your response to question No. 10? Did this include burning as fuel, or for energy recovery, or incineration?

The intended disposition of the baled recyclable post-consumer steel cans listed in the response to question 10 was for the steel cans to entirely be used as a useful product.

- (d) After sale, transfer, delivery, recycling, or disposal, what portion of the scrap metal listed in your response to question No. 10 was to be made available for use as a feedstock for manufacturing of new saleable products? Explain how the portion identified in this answer was derived or calculated.

The post-consumer steel cans listed in the response to question 10 were entirely available as a useful product for use as a feedstock for manufacturing of new saleable products. Steel cans were highly advertised as being entirely recyclable by the entities identified in the response to Question 11(a).

- (e) Could the scrap metal listed in your response to question No. 10 have been used as a replacement or substitute for a virgin raw material? If so, provide details.

The post-consumer steel cans listed in the response to question 10 were entirely recyclable as a useful product as a replacement or substitute for a virgin raw material. This was supported by numerous accounts from the entities identified in the response to Question 11(a).

- (f) Could any products made from the scrap metal listed in your response to question No. 10 have been used as a replacement or substitute for a product made, in whole or in part, from a virgin raw material? If so, provide details.

The post-consumer steel cans listed in the response to question 10 could have been entirely used as a useful recyclable product as a replacement or substitute for a virgin raw material. This was supported by numerous accounts from the entities identified in the response to Question 11(a).

- (g) Did your company melt the scrap metal listed in your response to question No. 10 before it was transported/delivered to the Site? If yes, describe the process used for melting the scrap metal.

No.

- (h) Describe the source of or the process that produced the materials sent to the Site.

Resource Management received recyclable post-consumer steel cans collected from residential curbside source separated recycling programs, delivered them to Resource Management's material recovery facility, and subsequently separated, baled and sold all such material as an entirely useful product for recycling.

- 12. Did any of the scrap material sent to the Site contain other material(s) incident to or adhering to the scrap? If so, describe in detail.

The material delivered to the Site consisted only of baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans. The steel cans were collected from municipal source separated residential curbside recycling programs, where Resource Management provided instruction to all companies and communities (see attached "List of Accepted Post-Consumer Recyclable Materials") that all post-consumer "containers (including steel cans) to be emptied and rinsed clean" before placing into their recycling bin. Resource Management's observation of the steel cans prior to baling confirmed that consumers were substantially complying with this requirement. Some steel cans may have had de minimis amounts of post-consumer food residue adhering to the inside of the steel can, and paper labels wrapped around the cylindrical portion of the steel can, which was (and continues to be) acceptable to steel can recycling industries, but no other materials.

- 13. Did any of the material sent to the Site contain wire or wiring? If so, was the wire's insulation first stripped before being shipped to or accepted at the Site, after being received at the Site, or was the wire not stripped?

The post-consumer recyclable steel cans contained no wire or wiring. The steel can bales were strapped according to industry practice with recyclable bare steel baling wire (approximately 5 straps per bale).

- 14. Did the material shipped include drums or shipping containers? If so, specify the generators of the drums or shipping containers, the capacity of such drums or containers and whether such containers ever contained liquid of any sort. If so, specify the type of liquid and whether such liquids contained wastes of any kind.

No.

- 15. Describe all efforts (i.e., Site visits) taken by your company to determine what would be done with the scrap metal identified in your response to question No. 10.

An initial Site visit was made in 1996 to confirm the delivery location for the baled post-consumer recyclable steel cans. It was understood that the post-consumer recyclable steel cans would be recycled in their entirety for beneficial use. This understanding was continually re-enforced by interaction with and communications with those entities listed in the response included to Question 11(a) above.

Questions and Request for Documents Related to Electrical and Electronic Equipment

16. For the following questions which relate to transactions involving electrical and electronic equipment (e.g., transformers, capacitors, white goods, computers, monitors, cables, circuit boards, or other electrical equipment), provide the requested information, and also provide copies of any documents that contain any information that is related to the response:

- (a) List an estimated number of shipments of electrical and electronic equipment your company sent to the Site on an annual basis and list the years. In this list, include the type and quantity, volume and weight of electrical and electronic equipment sent;

None.

- (b) At the time of the transaction(s), what was the intended deposition of the electrical and electronic equipment listed in your response to question 15(a)? Did the intended disposition include burning as fuel or for energy recovery or incineration?

Not applicable.

17. With respect to waste or materials sent to the Site, at the time of the transactions, specify the measures you took to determine the actual means of treatment, disposal, recycling, or other uses of the material. Provide information you had and any documents relating to the treatment, recycling and disposal practices of Chemetco at the Site. What assurances, if any, were you given by the owner/operator of the Site regarding the proper handling and ultimate disposition of the materials you sent there, as well as its compliance with applicable environmental laws? Include in your response any correspondence to and from Chemetco relating to this topic and dates the measures were taken or assurances were given.

Prior to Resource Management's delivery of steel cans to Chemetco, the Steel Can Recycling Institute (later the Steel Recycling Institute) advised that it had become aware that post-consumer steel cans were being delivered to the Chemetco Site by a local scrap dealer, and subsequently visited and toured the Site and confirmed that Chemetco was a legitimate purchaser of steel cans.

Resource Management understood that Chemetco planned to entirely recycle all post-consumer steel cans purchased from Resource Management, as Chemetco was advised of Resource Management's purpose to entirely recycle all designated recyclable materials from post-consumer source separated municipal recycling programs.

- 18. What efforts and when, if any, did you take to investigate the nature of the operations conducted at the Site and the environmental compliance of the Site prior to selling, transferring, delivering disposing of, trading, or arranging for the treatment, recycling, or disposal of any materials?

Resource Management was an active participant in the Illinois Recycling Association during the entire time that Chemetco purchased post-consumer cans from Resource Management. In particular, Resource Management's Senior Vice President, Greg Maxwell, served on the Board of Directors of the Illinois Recycling Association during the entire time that Chemetco (Hartford, Illinois) was purchasing post-consumer recyclable steel cans from Resource Management. Also serving on the Illinois Recycling Association Executive Board were representatives from governmental agencies including the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (later and now the Illinois Department of Commerce and Economic Opportunity), the Madison County Planning and Development Department (where Chemetco-Hartford, IL was located), and representatives of recycling institutes and industries, including the Steel Can Recycling Institute (later Steel Recycling Institute). These governmental agencies and recycling institutes and industries also gave presentations at annual conferences, including having Exhibit Booths, where they provided current and relevant recycling industry information. Mr. Maxwell attended all conferences and Executive Board Meetings, and served in close and frequent association with these agencies, institutes, and industries and their respective representatives, and at no time was any information mentioned or concerns raised, offered or provided by any of these agencies, institutes, industries or individuals regarding any environmental or regulatory concerns that would militate against the delivery of post-consumer recyclable steel cans to Chemetco or the Chemetco Site.

Other information was also provided promoting the recycling of post-consumer steel cans, including articles in the Illinois Recycling Association Newsletters and information provided by the Steel Recycling Institute (February, 1994; August, 1994; October, 1995; December, 1995; December, 1997).

Furthermore, numerous information and publications were provided by governmental agencies such as the Illinois and US Environmental Protection Agencies promoting the recycling of post-consumer recyclable materials, including post-consumer steel cans. One example is a USEPA document published in January, 1994 titled "How to Start or Expand A Recycling Collection Program (EPA530-F-94-007). This document stated in part "tin/steel cans are readily recyclable." Resource Management relied upon all such information.

Resource Management adhered to all customary industry practices in its handling of post-consumer recyclable steel cans. Resource Management was in compliance with all applicable federal environmental regulations and standards pertaining to its recycling business and, during the years that it did business with Chemetco, had not received any notices of violation or other allegations of non-compliance.

Letters, Invoices, & Pricing to Chemetco (19 pages)

August 9, 1996

Mr. Joe Leahy
Chemetco
16400 Lathrop
Harvey, IL 60426

Dear Joe,

We sincerely appreciate the opportunity to pursue a mutually acceptable business relationship between our two companies. My conversations with you and David have been very positive. Cal and I were pleased to give a tour of our Plainfield facility to Enam, and we would like to extend the same invitation to you and David at your convenience.

My visit with David Hoff was very interesting and informative. He indicated that we could deliver at any time of day with our self unloading walking floor trailers, with the ability to tip the bales directly in the storage building. This appears to work well for both our companies since we do not have to take up the time of your trailer tipping equipment.

Enam originally quoted $100.00 per net ton ($112.00 per gross ton), plus $200.00 for freight for each 20 ton truckload delivered to your Hartford, Illinois facility. When Enam visited our Plainfield facility, Cal suggested that some type of published index be used to adjust the price upwards or downwards on a month to month basis based on market conditions. Our experience with the American Metals Market publication, is that the price index for densified steel can bales follows the trend in pricing for the steel cans that have been sold from our facility, so we suggested that this might be a way to set up a mechanism to adjust the price each month to follow market conditions. Specifically, we suggested the following:

Chemetco will pay Resource Management $200.00 per load for transportation, plus

Chemetco will pay Resource Management an amount equal to the number of tons delivered in a month multiplied by the $/ton as published on the first day of the month in the American Metal Market / Chicago for Densified Bales of Steel Cans less $27.00 per gross ton. This suggestion would calculate the value to be $100.00 per net ton in August, 1996 as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} $139.00 - $27.00 &= $112.00/\text{gross ton} \\ &= $100.00/\text{net ton} \end{aligned}$$

Where $139.00 equals the AMM/Chicago price for densified steel can bales on 8/1/96, and $27.00 equals the constant amount that will be subtracted from the AMM/Chicago price each month, and $112.00 is the payment price per gross ton.

We also said we would be open to other mechanisms to adjust the price with market conditions.

We could begin delivery of materials sometime during the week of August 19-23, 1996.

We sincerely appreciate your interest and hope we can establish a long term relationship between our companies.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell, CEO

Dear Corinne,

Bill Casady advised me today that we must invoice Chemetco on a weekly basis to your attention to receive payment for the bales of steel cans that we deliver to your company. We apologize for not invoicing you earlier as we thought Chemetco would initiate payment to our company based on Chemetco's receiving records.

Attached are invoices #1, #2, #3, and #4 which should take care of payments past due. We would sincerely appreciate your help in expediting payment on these past due amounts.

We will also forward you other invoices that are soon becoming due, as well as begin invoicing on a regular weekly basis from now on.

If you have any questions, or if you require anything further, please contact us.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell

Dear David,

Attached is a summary of payments that are past due to Resource Management for delivery of bales of steel cans during the period August 14, 1996 through September 16, 1996. We were not sure if you require an invoice from our company in order for your company to initiate payment to us. If this is so, please let us know.

Our customary experience has been to receive payments from our material buyers at least on a weekly basis, such that payment for one week's worth of delivered materials is sent to our company 15 days later. Per our last telephone conversation, I understand that Chemetco's payment terms are 30 days, which is acceptable to us.

We would sincerely appreciate your kind attention to check the status of payments that are currently overdue, and to advise us of any procedures that our company should initiate to achieve payment from your company within 30 days.

Sincerely,

Subject: Cardboard Contamination

Dear Joe,

Resource Management appreciates the opportunity to receive baled cardboard from Chemetco's operations. We would like to bring to your attention the attached two photographs showing contamination in one of the bales of cardboard that Chemetco delivered to our Plainfield facility on January 22, 1997. There was similar contamination in another bale; however, we did not take a picture of it.

Our company has established a reputation for providing high quality materials that are processed and marketed from our facilities. We can not afford to ship materials that do not meet the requirements of our buyers, as this could result in rejection of an entire load, with associated costs to return the material and reprocess it.

We are providing these photographs so you can give visual feedback to your operations people to help prevent these types of occurrences in the future. Thanks for your cooperation and help regarding this matter.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell

Dear Joe,

We continue to appreciate the mutually acceptable business relationship between our two companies. We have been in contact with each other to adjust pricing upwards or downwards depending on current market conditions for steel cans. Your telephone call to me yesterday indicated that the value of steel cans may be going down in the upcoming weeks. My review indicates that pricing of steel cans has been stable for the past 1-1/2 months; however, we can continue to observe if any future changes occur.

We discussed that a published index be used to adjust the price upwards or downwards on a month to month basis based on current market conditions. Our experience with the American Metals Market publication of SCRAP IRON & STEEL PRICES for "CLEAN USED DENSIFIED CANS" follows the trend in pricing for the bales of steel cans that have been sold from our facility. I would like to suggest that this index be used as a mechanism to adjust the price each month to follow market conditions. Specifically, the following is suggested:

Chemetco will pay Resource Management an amount equal to the number of tons delivered in a month multiplied by the $/ton as published on the first day of the month in the AMERICAN METAL MARKET / CONSUMER BUYING PRICES for CLEAN USED DENSIFIED CANS- Chicago market, less $8.00 per gross ton. This suggestion would calculate the value to be $109.82 per net ton as of March 1, 1997 as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} $131.00 - $8.00 &= $123.00/\text{gross ton} \\ &= $109.82/\text{net ton} \end{aligned}$$

Where $131.00 equals the AMM/Chicago price for CLEAN USED DENSIFIED CANS on 3/1/96, and $8.00 equals the constant amount that will be subtracted from the AMM/Chicago price each month, $123.00 is the price per gross ton for March, 1997, and $109.82 is the payment price per net ton for March, 1997.

Payment would be $20.00 less per net ton for loads picked up by Chemetco at Resource Management's Plainfield facility,

Payment terms would remain the same; Invoicing on a weekly basis, NET 30 days.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell, CEO

Dear Joe,

Thanks for your call today. I hope the following information clarifies my written communications to you. My letter to you dated August 9, 1996 was a suggestion to use the AMERICAN METAL MARKET plus a transportation allowance of $200.00. My recent letter to you dated March 7, 1997 was based on direct delivery to your Hartford facility with a built in transportation allowance of $20.00 per ton.

In my most recent letter to you, I took into account the transportation charges we are currently paying to you in the amount of $20 per ton when your trucks pick up our steel cans from Plainfield, IL. Using the calculation method in my August 9th letter to you, the current $20 per ton transportation rate is included as follows:

Chemetco payment to Resource Management would include $20.00 per ton for transportation, plus

an amount equal to the number of tons delivered in a month multiplied by the $/ton as published on the first day of the month in the American Metal Market / Chicago for Densified Bales of Steel Cans less $27.00 per gross ton. This suggestion would calculate the value to be $110.00 per net ton in March, 1997 as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} = $20.00 \text{ plus } ($131.00 - $27.00) &= $20.00 + $104.00/\text{gross ton} \\ &= $110.00/\text{net ton} \end{aligned}$$

Where $131.00 equals the AMM/Chicago price for densified steel can bales on 2/28/97, and $27.00 equals the constant amount that will be subtracted from the AMM/Chicago price each month, and $104.00 is the payment price per gross ton.

Since you previously asked that we not separate out the transportation charges, my current letter of March 7, 1997 suggests the subtraction of $8.00 per ton from the AMERICAN METAL MARKET that automatically factors in the $20.00 per ton transportation allowance. This method calculates to the same price per ton as follows:

$$\begin{aligned} $131.00 - $8.00 &= $123.00/\text{gross ton} \\ &= $110.00/\text{net ton} \end{aligned}$$

I apologize for not explaining this better in my most recent letter to you.

I did confirm today that the current market for steel cans is $107.00 per gross ton ($95.00 per net ton) delivered to a Chicago area market. To reiterate previous discussions, we have stated that we need at least $200.00 per load to help cover our transportation costs to deliver our steel cans to Hartford, IL., versus the alternative of delivering to a Chicago area location. Based on delivering a 20 ton load, we need an additional $10.00 per ton over the Chicago area market price. This would bring the payment price to $105.00 per net ton ($95.00 + $10.00) for steel cans that we deliver to Chemetco's Hartford facility during March, 1997. If the market for steel cans is going down, then the AMERICAN METAL MARKET publication should soon show a price decrease from which we would adjust current pricing. Again, we would also be open to other mechanisms to adjust the price with market conditions, such as a reliable index from the Iron Age Scrap Publication.

I would like to strongly reiterate our appreciation of doing business with Chemetco.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell, CEO

Dear Joe,

Based on the American Metal Market publication, we have observed that pricing for densified cans for the month of January, 1998 is $126.00 per gross ton. Per our agreement, pricing from Chemetco to Resource Management for the month of January, 1998 should be as follows:

Delivered Hartford, Illinois

$126 - $27 = $99 / gross ton
$88 / net ton
plus $10 freight
$98 / net ton, or $0.049 per pound

Please call or FAX me to confirm pricing. Thank you for the continued opportunity to sell bales of steel cans to your company.

RE: Steel Can Pricing for August & September, 1998

Dear Joe,

Pursuant to our telecon of September 18, 1998, you requested me to provide pricing for steel cans using the agreed upon pricing of $27.00 less than the monthly price for Clean Used Densified Cans as published in the American Metal Market. Prices for the subject months are as follows:

August, 1998 - Delivered to Hartford, Illinois
$117 - $27 = $90 / gross ton
= $80 / net ton
add $10 freight
= $90 / net ton

September, 1998 - Delivered to Hartford, Illinois
$111 - $27 = $84 / gross ton
= $75 / net ton
add $10 freight
= $85 / net ton

Our information indicates that this pricing continues to be representative of the current market value for the steel cans we are selling to Chemetco. Please call me to confirm steel can pricing for these months, as well as on going pricing.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell
Chief Executive Officer

RE: Steel Can Pricing

Dear Joe,

Pursuant to our telecon today, we could use the attached table without having to do any calculation. The persons in accounting merely refer to the table! For example, if the AMM Price for Densified Steel Cans is $110/gross ton, then looking at the table, the delivered value per net ton is $88.00/ton ($0.0441/lb).

This table leaves the value for baled steel cans the same, but provides more revenue to Resource Management for freight (as I had previously requested).

We could start this in February, 2000. Please advise if this would be acceptable.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell
Chief Executive Officer

RE: Steel Can Pricing

Dear Joe,

Pursuant to our telecon today, the attached table allows your accounting personnel to determine monthly pricing for baled steel cans without having to do any calculation. The persons in accounting can merely refer to the attached table. For example, if the AMM Price for Densified Steel Cans is $115/gross ton, then looking at the table, the delivered value per net ton is $91.00/ton ($0.0453/lb).

This table leaves the value for baled steel cans the same.

This letter also confirms your reply to my previous correspondence that Chemetco will increase the current payment for freight allowance from $10.00/ton to $12.00/ton for Resource Management's delivery of the steel cans in walking floor trailers directly to the tip floor of Chemetco's Hartford, Illinois facility.

We continue to appreciate the opportunity to do business with your company.

Sincerely,

Greg Maxwell
Chief Executive Officer

CURBSIDE RESIDENTIAL RECYCLING

Please use the following guidelines for curbside residential recycling program collection.

Place material in a hard-walled container. No recycling container can exceed 32 gallons. If using a garbage can as a recycling bin, mark the outside of the container with a large "R" in a bright color.

One blue recycling bin is provided to every residential address. The bins are City of Naperville property and should remain with the property; they will not be replaced. The City of Naperville provides the addresses of new homes that will receive one recycling bin and residents do not need to call for the complementary bin.

Additional bins can be purchased for $9.00. Broken bins can be replaced under warranty. The broken bin must be returned for replacement. Call Resource Management for details or reference the website www.rmcycle.com

Paper does not have to be separated from bottles, cans and plastic containers. All recyclable materials can be placed together in recycling containers. This is called single stream recycling.

Recycling containers must be at the curb by 6:00 am. There is no scheduled time for recycling collection in areas. Collection times may vary due to traffic disruption, staffing, equipment or weather conditions.

Do not place recyclables in plastic bags. Plastic bags are a contaminant, cannot be recycled and will not be collected.

Corrugated boxes should be flattened if possible.

All containers should be emptied of all liquid. Remove as much product residue as possible. Do not include containers that held motor oil or caustic substances.

Place only items accepted in the curbside program. The presence of the "chasing arrows" recycling symbol does not guarantee an item can be recycled or that the item can be included in the program. Please refer to the attached list of acceptable items or our web site www.rmcycle.com

Fill the container so the wind doesn't catch and carry materials through the neighborhood.

Place recycling container apart from garbage and yard waste bags, so the driver can see you are recycling.

MATERIALS ACCEPTED IN THE NAPERVILLE PROGRAM

Newspaper, junk mail, magazines, telephone books, computer paper, writing paper, cereal and frozen food boxes, books and corrugated boxes. No foil-backed paper, paper towels, napkins, plates. Remove newspapers from plastic bags.

Plastic rigid containers that have a number code on the container.

Most food, health and cleaning products are #1 or #2 plastic. However, there are some containers that are #3,4,5, or 7. Do not include #6 plastic. Typical #6 plastics are Styrofoam or #6 clear plastic boxes such as bakery or salad bar containers.

Do not include plastic bags, wraps or flexible plastic.

Glass bottles and jars, no dishware, windows, etc.

Aluminum cans, foil and trays

Steel cans, including empty aerosol cans

Juice boxes, milk and juice cartons, NO STRAWS

Items such as the following are not accepted in the program. Do not place these items in the recycling bin:

- Aluminum siding, gutters, lawn chairs, doors and window frames
- Appliances, electronics, cellular phones, computer parts
- Batteries of any kind
- Carpets or carpet padding
- Cookware, clothes hangars (wire or plastic)
- Dishes, drinking glasses, giftware, crockery, windows, mirrors
- Miscellaneous metals: tools, pipes, chains, wire, pots and pans, other metal scrap
- Paint cans that contain either liquid or dried paint
- Plastic bags (grocery, bread, dry cleaning, newspaper), wraps, sheeting, curtains or tarps
- Plastics: toys, buckets, boxes, dishes, vinyl blinds, flower pots, laundry baskets
- Ring binders, plastic sheet protectors
- Styrofoam: packaging blocks, "peanuts", sheets, plates, cups, or containers
- Toys of any kind (plastic toys, riding toys, games, game pieces, etc.)
- Wood or construction materials
- Yard waste and brush

RMC | Resource Management Companies

The familiar metal cans we take for granted in everyday life are made of the most recycled material: steel. This includes coffee cans, meat and vegetable cans, pet food cans, paint cans, aerosol cans and even decorative cookie tins. Call them "tin" cans or steel cans, they are all the same thing—recycled and recyclable.

In 1995, steel cans were being recycled at a rate of 55.9 percent. This rate is steadily increasing through the combined efforts of steel mills, foundries, detinners and other broker/processors and the Steel Recycling Institute (SRI). Steel can recycling is important not only to steelmakers for flat-rolled products, but also heavy steel products, because steel cans have earned a role as a new and valuable source of scrap for the industry.

The steelmaking process requires steel scrap to produce new steel. For decades, worn-out cars, used appliances and old construction materials have been remelted to make new steel products. With curbside and drop-off recycling programs providing convenient access to recycling for many Americans, steel cans are now an available and desirable scrap grade.

The SRI develops and improves the infrastructure for steel can recycling by ensuring continuation of the three steps in recycling: collection, processing and end market consumption. Established originally in 1988 as the Steel Can Recycling Institute, one of the first challenges was to identify and expand steel can recycling markets, including steel mills and foundries in the United States and Canada. The SRI, through its seven regional offices, works extensively with these end markets to provide them with the benefits of melting steel can scrap, as described herein. The SRI also provides detinners and other secondary processors of steel cans with information about these end markets and the curbside and drop-off collection source contacts.

Earlier in this century, the steel industry did not typically use steel can scrap unless it was first detinned. At that time, the amount of tin used as a coating on steel cans was fairly high and would have changed the mechanical properties of steel if used as a scrap source of significant proportion. In the 1940's, for example, one ton of steel cans contained more than 50 pounds of tin as a coating. Today's steel can has an almost negligible tin coating, with less than four pounds in one ton of steel cans. At this level, post-consumer steel cans are being used directly in the melt by the steel and foundry industries.

Collecting Steel Can Scrap

With only the notable exception of World War II scrap metal drives, steel cans have previously not been available in sufficient quantity to warrant serious scrap usage. Steel cans now, however, move easily from what would have been municipal solid waste to scrap material for end market consumption. It starts with the local recycling program, where steel cans are collected and initially processed. There are several types of recycling programs.

The Benefits of Steel Can Scrap

One of the most common programs today is the residential curbside recycling program. Residents place their recyclables at the curb for collection by a hauler and transportation to a material recovery facility (MRF), where the steel cans are magnetically separated from the other materials. Over 175 million Americans have access to curbside recycling today.

Because participants in recycling programs are careful about rinsing their cans before placing them in the recycling bin, the cans are usually very clean. Since there is no practical reason for removing labels, the SRI encourages program operators to allow their participants to leave labels on the steel cans they collect. Flattening the cans at home is optional as well. Also, the ends of the cans do not have to be removed. This encourages recycling by keeping it simple.

A companion to residential curbside recycling is dockside recycling for the commercial and institutional sectors where steel food cans (usually large one-gallon cans) are collected from restaurants, hotels, schools, military bases and other food service operations. Dockside recycling is only in its infancy and yet an area of major developmental opportunity. Recyclables collected at dockside are usually hauled to a MRF where they are processed with the residential materials.

In addition to curbside and dockside recycling, there are many voluntary drop-off and buyback centers that accept steel cans. As the name suggests, voluntary drop-off programs are those in which participants bring their recyclable materials to a collection site. In a buyback operation, consumers are paid for their recyclables, although some materials may be accepted on a donation basis, including steel cans. Depending on the size of the drop-off or buyback operation, the steel cans may be hauled locally to a MRF or another secondary processor. Occasionally, they may go directly to nearby steel mills or foundries.

In many metropolitan areas, steel cans are recycled automatically through resource recovery facilities. These modern, highly sophisticated waste-to-energy plants combust municipal solid waste while recovering the energy for steam and electricity generation. The solid waste itself is reduced in volume by as much as 90 percent. Either before or after combustion, depending on the plant type, the steel is magnetically separated. The scrap is then beneficiated by a specialty secondary processor to remove ash or residue and sold to end market.

Processing Steel Can Scrap

Regardless of the type of recycling program, steel cans must be prepared by a secondary processor for use by end markets. MRFs initially process the steel cans for shipment to another secondary processor or for direct use by local end markets. MRFs typically bale cans in a horizontal baler with a density of about 30-50 pounds per cubic foot. This loose, wire-wrapped bale is sometimes called an HRB bale. The steel can scrap specification depends on the needs of the end market itself. The type of equipment used by the initial processor may not be adequate for the consumer. In many cases the loose bale must be re-squeezed into a tighter, high density bale at 60-75 pounds per cubic foot. Steel cans may also be flattened or shredded, if required. Following processing, the steel cans are a desirable scrap source for steelmaking or foundry operations.

Melting Steel Can Scrap

Price

In addition to their superior chemistry described below, steel cans used in the melter's scrap mix provide a relative cost advantage. Steel cans approximate a #2 bundle in price. Steel cans tend to average down the overall cost of the scrap mix while also providing predictable chemistry.

Predictability

The predictability of scrap quality is paramount. The known, consistent and homogeneous scrap chemistry afforded by steel cans is a fact of metallurgy now being realized by more melters. Shown on the following page is Table 2 from ASTM Specification A623, which outlines the chemistry of tin mill products (the sheet steel from which steel cans are made). Type L steel, a mild, low carbon steel, represents more than 95 percent of all the sheet steel made for tin mill products. As a very critical application, the steel used in making cans is among the highest quality grades of steel made.

In addition to the chemistry of the substrata steel sheet itself, the coating chemistry must be considered. Per gross ton of post-consumer steel cans, there are about four pounds of tin or 0.002 by weight, or 0.20 percent. Its percentage composition is low because about one-third of the modern steel can sheet is tin-free steel, using instead an extremely light chromium wash for corrosion protection instead of tin. Thus, with the tin content of cans considerably lower than its historical past, it is of minimal significance when it is blended with other sources of scrap in the basic oxygen furnace (BOF) or electric arc furnace (EAF) operations. Furthermore, foundry operations welcome the presence of this slight amount of tin as a cost-saving alternative to the addition of copper to achieve stabilization of pearlite, improving yield and tensile strengths.

Public Relations

Given the above described predictability and pricing, the public relations value to a melter of using steel cans from a local recycling program is an important component which should not be overlooked. When a melter provides the local recycling program with an industrial end market for its cans, it shows support of the recycling program and the community-at-large. The average citizen does not readily identify with most forms of steel scrap, but sees steel cans as part of everyday life and a routine item collected for recycling. A mill or foundry that has always "recycled" will suddenly get credit for doing so as the local population makes the connection. This unique partnership may also spark the interest of the local media, whose coverage will provide both the local recycling program and the melter with positive exposure throughout the community. The same beneficial public relations are also enjoyed by the melter who receives steel can scrap from more distant programs.

The Role of the Steel Recycling Institute

Headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, the SRI has regional offices throughout North America. The role of the SRI is to develop and improve steel recycling by helping the buyers and sellers of steel can scrap secure mutually beneficial relationships and by raising public awareness of steel can recycling. The SRI, with its wealth of local contacts and educational information, also serves as a resource to the recycling community. If you are interested in more information, call the Steel Recycling Institute at 1-800-876-7274.
